

WERE YOU A FIRST GENERATION COLLEGE STUDENT?

Your advice can help these statistics!

Feelings of inadequacy among first-generation students

First-generation students are more likely than non-first-generation students to feel inadequate about their academic ability, social life and socioeconomic status.

Source: March 2-3 Herald Poll

The Office of Academic Opportunity Programs is looking for alumni, faculty, and staff who were first generation college students and would be interested in participating in an advice video for prospective first generation students!

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Contact Grace Ghinger (fgghinger@umbc.edu) or Corris Davis (cdavis4@umbc.edu)